

VMSManager asks for directory to store data

Problem: A select directory window is opened when starting VMSManager that asks for the directory to store data.

Solution: This can be caused by one of two problems:

- In the event that this is a new installation, select the directory to store the configuration data.
- The file pointed to by "Data File" in the ini file does not exist. Enter or select the directory where the data was previously stored. If the incorrect directory is chosen, any changes made with VMSManager will not be changed in VMSEntry.
