

I get one of the following errors:

It keeps asking me for a user name and password.
My user name and password doesn't work. What can I do to clear the error?

If you receive this error that means that your data source is bad or corrupt. You will need to go into the ODBC administrator and correct the error. Try repair and compact on the data source (Access Only). If that does not work, please see your system administrator for assistance.
