

How can I determine if a printer will be compatible with IVIS Plus?

While any printer that has a Windows driver can be set up to print badges, the key is whether the printer is compatible with the badge material that you have selected.

To determine this, there are several questions you need to answer:

- Will the printer feed the Teslin/JetPak material (if you are using Tri-Paks or Laserpaks)? Is the ink compatible with the badge material?
- And will the lamination adhere to the ink after printing?
- If you are using infrared bar code readers, will the printer print the bar codes in carbon-based ink?

If you have a question about a printer's compatibility with IVIS Plus, please contact your ID America Sales Representative for more information.