

How are the external images linked back to the records?

External images are stored using the value of a field that behaves as a primary key (it is unique and exists for every single record). The value of the field is used to name the file and the standard graphic format is used as the extension of the name. Examples of these fields are: SSN, Employee No, or a self-incrementing counter.